National Network of Libraries of Medicine

The mission of the National Network of Libraries of Medicine (NN/LM) is to advance the progress of medicine and improve the public health by providing all U.S. health professionals with equal access to biomedical information and improving the public's access to information to enable them to make informed decisions about their health. The Program is coordinated by the National Library of Medicine and carried out through a nationwide network of health science libraries and information centers.

Membership is free. Benefits include:

- Access to a variety of in person and online trainings and education opportunities
- Eligibility for funding for health information outreach projects
- Educational materials for National Library of Medicine products and services
- Consultations for health information outreach projects
- The opportunity to partner with other libraries or information centers
- Invitations to provide input on NN/LM regional programs and services
- Access to the latest health related news and information
- A certificate recognizing your institution's NN/LM membership.

To Join: Visit your region's website and fill out a brief membership application form. Select "Affiliate Membership" when asked for membership type. A coordinator from your region will follow up with you after the application is submitted.
